Service NSW July update

The PSA has lodged your new Award with the Industrial Relations Commission and it will be effective 1 July 2016 for two years.

This Award covers your conditions, rights and entitlements as an employee of Service NSW.

All Service NSW employees will now receive the 2.5 percent pay rise, with their first full pay as of 1 July 2016 and also in 2017 as a result of the Award being lodged with no disputes.

The PSA thanks members involved in the negotiating team.

Service NSW delegates' committee

The PSA is seeking to establish its first Service NSW Delegates' Committee. It will be made up of PSA members employed by Service NSW to cover and represent the needs of employees across the state.

The delegates will help identify the wider needs and issues being faced by Service NSW employees. The Committee will meet four times a year at PSA House, Sydney to discuss these important issues and escalate them through the union.

It is beneficial to get a good cross classification group established to represent all Service NSW employees.

The PSA believes in building strength as a collective voice to maintain and improve your current working conditions.

Please ensure your membership details are correct by visiting www.psa.asn.au, as the PSA will be calling for nominations through email.

PSA training

The PSA holds union training for members. Your Award allows you to access 12 days' special leave (over two years) to attend training provided by your Union. All PSA members are eligible. Dates are listed below for Metro & Regional. All the courses are free of charge, sustenance is not payable.

Members can register online HERE.

Want to know more?

I am the Metro PSA Organiser for Service NSW and the PSA is still identifying challenges for Service NSW employees such as inequitable rostering, WH&S education, poor splitting of meal breaks, overlapping of roles, lack of training and positive feedback, and the pros and cons of part-time workers working full time hours.

If you would like further information, please do not hesitate to contact Susan Chee Quee, scheequee@psa.asn.au or call our Member Support Centre on 1300 772 679.

What can you do?
