

PSA/CPSU NSW has won! We are your union!

As those of you that have been privatised over the last six months would know, we remained your union supporting you in the workplace and with management.

However, one new provider, The Benevolent Society, tried to dictate to members which unions could represent our members and to exclude the CPSU NSW from the workplace.

The PSA/CPSU NSW took The Benevolent Society to the Fair Work Commission to ensure we could represent the industrial interests of former ADHC employees. And we won!

Commissioner Johns delivered his judgment on 8 March 2018 and accepted the legal arguments that the CPSU NSW/PSA is entitled to cover and represent privatised disability workers in the Federal industrial system.

Read more about this fantastic win HERE.

An important win for members

Members can now rest easy and know their union has cleared the way to get on with the important work of supporting you in the workplace and fighting to maintain and improve your conditions.

You can support the work of the PSA and your local delegates by asking your colleagues to join their union.

Join online easily HERE.

OR

Download our easy to complete Joining Form to hand out at your team meeting HERE.

