

PSA – Bullying and workload survey – CSO

At our recent members' meetings, the issues of workplace bullying, workload stress and poor communication with management have been raised. The PSA is conducting a survey to assess the prevalence of these issues within the CSO.

We want to stress to all members that, unlike the PMES survey, no identifying information needs to be provided to complete this survey.

Please follow the link below to the PSA's survey:

The PSA is currently in discussions with CSO management to allow the release of this survey to all staff.
