

The union for School Psychologists

Over the last 12 months the PSA has been talking to School Psychologist members about their employment conditions and how this role fits into the school environment.

The PSA would like to hear from a wider group of School Psychologists to assist us in understanding what you care about and to gather further information on what workplace issues may need to be addressed with the Department of Education on your behalf.

While this survey is open to all school psychologists, we can only act on behalf of members. We encourage anyone who has not yet joined the PSA to be part of a strong, growing union that not only works hard for its members but wins!

Tell Us What You Think

If you can spare just eight minutes of your time to fill in our simple survey, we will be able to fight for the things that members care about.

This survey is confidential and no individual respondent will be identified. We will be using the outcomes of the survey to help us to lobby for better support and working environment for you.

The PSA is hoping to reach as many school psychologists as possible.

Please forward this bulletin on to your colleagues to ensure we canvass as widely as possible and to give them the opportunity to join with us to advance the workplace conditions of school psychologists.
