Tell us what you want

In the wake of International Women's Day, we are asking our members and women in the public service what they want.

In 2020, PSA is launching its inaugural What Women Want survey. We are asking women all over NSW to tell us what matters to them in their workplaces, so we can campaign and represent you effectively.

We're asking you to complete the survey and tell us what you want so we can make things happen together.

We want to hear from as many women as possible: forward this survey on to your colleagues at work and encourage them to complete the survey to give us the best possible understanding of what you all want at work. Our union is stronger together – we would love for your colleagues to join us at www.psa.asn.au/join.

You can complete our survey HERE.
