

Dispute update

Last Friday 24 July, the PSA and the EPA appeared in the Industrial Relations Commission (IRC). This dispute involved the EPA's lack of consultation regarding the administration review and divisional structure realignments. As a result of this dispute, it was agreed the PSA and the EPA would meet regarding the administration review and the division restructures. The PSA also maintains the ability to relist the matter. Further meetings will be held this Wednesday, 29 July, after which the PSA will provide members with an update.

Regarding the administration survey, the EPA has granted an extension of one week to fill this out. The PSA also advises members not to list their names on this survey, as this should not be a requirement.

If members would like to raise any issues or concerns regarding the changes, please email organiser Chris Bird at cbird@psa.asn.au, who will collate this feedback.
