Has work impacted your hearing? The Workers Health Centre is here to help

The PSA/CPSU NSW is an affiliate of the Workers Health Centre (WHC) – a union-owned Rehabilitation Provider helping injured workers return-to-work and provide workplace health information.

WHC has recently partnered with Amplifon (formerly National Hearing Care) to provide advanced hearing assessments for all workers at no cost.

Amplifon has more than 100 hearing clinics across Sydney metropolitan and Regional NSW.

As part of this partnership members are also offered a 20 per cent discount off hearing aids.

To arrange your free hearing assessment, click HERE and follow the links to a simple referral form.

You will also find array of health, safety and wellbeing fact sheets to provide you with information.

Did you know legislation allows for you to choose your own rehabilitation provider?

At any time during a worker's compensation claim you can change your rehab or healthcare provider if you are not satisfied, even from an existing one allocated to you by an insurer or your employer. Get in touch with Workers Health Centre on 9749 7666 to find out how.
