Agency overview

The Department of Communities and Justice (DCJ) is the lead agency under the Stronger Communities Cluster. DCJ works to enable everyone's right to access justice and help for families through early intervention and inclusion, with benefits for the whole community. Stronger Communities is focussed on achieving safe, just, inclusive and resilient communities by providing services that are effective and responsive to community needs. For the first time, the creation of DCJ and Stronger Communities provides an opportunity to focus on prevention and early intervention across both the social welfare and justice systems.

Primary purpose of the role

Plan and deliver a range of accredited and approved criminogenic programs in custody to individuals convicted of serious substance-abuse related, sexual and violent offences to enhance community safety and reduce re-offending.

Program Clinicians run intensive therapeutic programs that are designed to help offenders understand the factors that led to their offending. They help offenders to take responsibility for their future, motivate them to change their behaviour and teach them new skills which will help them lead crime-free lives.

Programs are delivered in small groups and can also involve working one-on-one with individuals. This requires planning, preparing and delivering a variety of program content as well as monitoring the participants' progress to make sure they are getting the full benefit of therapeutic groups. Administering assessments to inform treatment needs as well as writing treatment completion or discharge reports are part of this role.

- Provide training to build staff capability in the delivery of criminogenic programs.
- Provide information and advice to stakeholders to inform of arising issues and incidents and resolution of routine issues related to the delivery of programs.
- Maintain relevant case management database records regarding the delivery and participation in programs to ensure access and retrieval of information for reporting and decision making.
- Provision of fundamental support services
