

We want to hear from you! PSA School Psychologists Survey 2021

Over the last few months, the PSA has continued to talk to School Psychologist members about their employment conditions and how this role fits into the school environment.

The PSA recently met with the Department of Education to advance these issues. Members have also elected delegates to represent them, forming the School Psychologists Vocational Advisory Group. Find out more about your delegates HERE

We thank those of you who completed our last survey.

To assist the PSA in understanding your issues now, how they might have changed over the last 18 months and to gather current data to support us in advancing your interests with the Department of Education, in consultation with your delegates we have developed a new survey for School Psychologists.

While this survey is open to all school psychologists, we can only act on behalf of members. We encourage anyone who has not yet joined the PSA to be part of a strong, growing union that not only works hard for its members but wins! You can join HERE

Tell Us What You Think

Fill in the 6-minute survey, to help us further understand the issues that members care about.

The survey is confidential and no individual respondent will be identified. We will be using the outcomes of the survey to help us to lobby for better support and a better working environment for you.

The survey will be open until mid-day on Friday 23 July 2021.

Forward this bulletin on to your colleagues!

The PSA is hoping to reach as many school psychologists as possible.

Forward this bulletin on to your colleagues to ensure we canvass as widely as possible and to give them the opportunity to join with us to advance the workplace conditions of school psychologists.
